

CONTENTS

About the Authors	ix
Introductory Remarks	xxiii
By Lynn M. Harter, Jane Hamel-Lambert, and Judith L. Millesen

SECTION I

---

Participatory Research: The Intermingling of Inquiry and Practice	3
(Introductory remarks by Judith L. Millesen)
Case 1 The Phillips Neighborhood Healthy Housing Collaborative: Forging a Path of Mutual Benefit, Social Change, and Transformation	9
By Cathy Jordan and Susan Ann Gust
Case 2 Challenges of Using Community-Based Participatory Research to Research and Solve Environmental Health Problems	31
By Christina Hemphill Fuller, Ellin Reisner, Don Meglio, and Doug Brugge
Case 3 Finding Common Ground: University Research Guided by Community Needs for Elementary School-Aged Youth	49
By Julie Sarno Owens, Nina Andrews, James Collins, Jacqueline C. Griffeth, and Margaret A. Mahoney
Case 4 Creating Expressive and Vocational Opportunities for Individuals Marked as (Dis)abled	73
By Lynn M. Harter, Patty Mitchell, Stephanie Norander, Mark Leeman, and Margaret M. Quinlan

Case 5 Moving between Inquiry and Action in Partnership
Development and Participatory Research: Reflections on Pace and Power 99
By Jane Hamel-Lambert, Sherry Shamblin, John Borchard, and Margaret Hutzal

Case 6 A Community-Based Participatory Approach to Increase
Mental Health Among Individuals Living with HIV/AIDS 121
By Tania B. Basta, Michael Reece, Enbal Shacham, and Gwen Davies

Commentary: Naming and Claiming Community-Based Participatory Research: What Is It and How Do We Know? 139
By Marlynn L. May

---

SECTION II

---

Knowing Differently: Aesthetic, Narrative, and Spiritual Frames 147
(Introductory remarks by Lindsey M. Rose and Lynn M. Harter)

Case 7 Adopting Narrative Sensibilities in the Service of Advancing Community-Based Participatory Research 151
By Lynn M. Harter, Anne Gerbensky-Kerber, and Spencer Patterson

Case 8 Youth-Led Participatory Action Research: Fostering Effective Youth-Adult Partnerships 165
By Laura J. Wernick, Michael R. Woodford, and Yoni (Jonathan) Siden

Case 9 Repositioning Subjects as Partners through Video Diaries 187
By Lynn M. Harter and Casey Hayward

Case 10 GOOD JOB: Narrative Bridges to Employment
Success for Homeless Workers and Their Bosses 201
By Mark Leeman and Keith Wasserman

Case 11 What I Learned by Going to Church in Detroit: A Reflective Essay By Angela D. Dillard	219
Case 12 Faith Meets Scientific Inquiry: Partnering with Churches for Community-Based Participatory Research By Doug Shamblin and Sherry Shamblin	229
Commentary: The Call to Illuminate Participatory Experiences Via Spiritual, Aesthetic, and Narratives Lenses By Patrice M. Buzzanell	243
 SECTION III <hr/>
Achieving Potential in Participatory Partnerships (Introductory remarks by Jane Hamel-Lambert)	253
Case 13 Community-Engaged Scholarship through Mutually Transformative Partnerships By Jessica Katz Jameson, Patty H. Clayton, and Audrey J. Jaeger	259
Case 14 Community-Based Participatory Research and the Transformation of Community Organizations' Research Capacities: A Case Study By Marlynn L. May, Karen Jaynes Williams, and Elizabeth J. Peranteau	279
Case 15 Doing Community-Based Partnership Research in Online Communities By Michelle Calka and Laura W. Black	293

Case 16 Interprofessional Scholarship, Service, and Education:
A Sustainable Model for Scholarship of Engagement 315
By Caroline Goulet, Joy Doll, Teresa M. Cochran, Gail M. Jensen, and Charlotte B. Royeen

Case 17 Strategies for Learning Participation in Community-Based Participatory Research Challenges: Prepare, Predict, Preempt, and Prevent Common Challenges While Ensuring Successful Participation 331
By Syed M. Ahmed, Melissa DeNomie, Staci Young, and Cheryl A. Maurana

Case 18 Perspectives on Partnership Evolution: From Passionate People to Committed Organizations 349
By George Hess, Gary Blank, Patti H. Clayton, John Connors, Kaytee Holcombe, Jamie Ramsey, Kathryn Reis, Chris Snow, Toddi Steelman, and Jacquelyn Wallace

Commentary: The Philosophy of “Co-”: Acting With to Maximize
Potential in Participatory Partnerships 379
By Erika L. Kirby

SECTION IV

---

Conclusion: Reflections on Participatory Journeys 387

Case 19 The Fragile Boundaries of Empowerment and Exploitation: Reflections on Our Journeys as Feminist Participatory Researchers 391
By Margaret M. Manoogian, Joan A. Jurich, and Leslie N. Richards

Case 20 A Community-Based Participatory Research Relationship
Journey 407
By Karen L. Slovak and Steven C. Carrel

Case 21 Participatory Partnerships in Rural Nebraska: Finding Mutual Benefit for Communities and Scholarship By James L. Leighter	417
---	-----

Open-Ending: A Letter to Readers By Lynn M. Harter, Jane Hamel-Lambert, and Judith L. Millesen	428
--	-----

